DAUGHERTY BUSINESS SOLUTIONS CONSULTANT TO PRESENT AT DEVLINK

(SAINT LOUIS, MO) July 13, 2009 – Brad Tutterow, a Senior Consultant with Daugherty Business Solutions, will be a presenter at DevLink's annual Technical Conference to be held August 13-15th in Nashville, Tennessee. Brad will present on the following topics:

Ruby on Rails for .NET/Java Developers

Ruby on Rails is an increasingly popular framework for building database-backed web applications. This presentation provides an overview of the Rails framework, the Ruby language, and what makes Ruby on Rails so exciting for developers. Brad will explain what Ruby on Rails is about and why Ruby on Rails is worth learning for .NET and Java developers.

Building a Silverlight game with Visual Studio and Expression Studio

Silverlight is a browser plug-in that allows .NET developers to write rich internet applications (RIAs). Brad's in-depth session will teach participants how to use Visual Studio and the Expression Studio suite together to build a working Silverlight game.

ABOUT DEVLINK

The devLink Technical Conference (<http://www.devlink.net>) is a non-profit organization established in 2006 to educate IT professionals on current and emerging technologies. They produce an annual event which brings industry experts together to present the latest information. The event is provided at little or no cost to attendees as possible, through the sponsorship of supporting organizations.
