DAUGHERTY CONSULTANT AUTHORS SAP BUSINESS OBJECTS WEB INTELLIGENCE

(ALPHARETTA, GA) May 10, 2010 – James H. Brogden, Jr. (Jim), a software engineer, data analyst, technical author, and business intelligence consultant for Daugherty Business Solutions in Atlanta, Georgia, recently co-authored SAP Business Objects Web Intelligence. The book's publisher is SAP Press, the premier publisher of technical and strategic books for the SAP community.

This complete guide to Web Intelligence shows readers how to generate their own queries and reports. For those new to the tool, the book begins with an overview of the fundamentals and then progresses through practical insights and details of how to use SAP Business Objects Web Intelligence in everyday work. For those with deeper knowledge, there is coverage of advanced topics and third party connectivity issues that will help extend and maximize the usefulness of Web Intelligence.

Jim combines a Masters degree in Information Technology and more than eight years of business intelligence development experience with a proven track record of delivering world-class business intelligence reporting solutions to a number of fortune 200 clients. He has extensive experience with producing innovative Xcelsius 2008 visual presentations and countless hours of development using Web Intelligence, Desktop Intelligence, and Crystal Reports. He has been a Business Objects Certified Professional and Migration Specialist since 2006 and has performed several successful Business Objects deployments and migrations. He is a graduate of the University of South Alabama and has been employed with Daugherty since 2005. He blogs at <http://myxcelsius.com/author/jim/>.
